JURISDICTION AND VENUE

7. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1343, 2201, 2202 and 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

8. Venue lies in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

9. The Second Amendment to the United States Constitution provides: “A well regulated Militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms shall not be infringed.”

10. The Second Amendment guarantees individuals a fundamental right to carry functional handguns in non-sensitive public places for purposes of self-defense.

11. The Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms applies as against the states by operation of the Fourteenth Amendment.

12. Maryland generally prohibits the public carrying of handguns without a license. Md. Criminal Law Code § 4-203; Md. Public Safety Code § 5-303. The unlicensed carrying of a handgun is a misdemeanor offense, carrying a penalty of 30 days to 3 years imprisonment and/or fine ranging from $250 to $2500 for a first offense. Md. Criminal Law Code § 4-203(c)(2)(i).

13. Handgun carry permits are issued by the Secretary of the State Police. Md. Public Safety Code § 5-301.

14. To qualify for a handgun carry permit, an applicant must establish that he or she is an adult; has not been convicted, without pardon, of a felony or misdemeanor for which a term of over 1 year imprisonment has been imposed; has not been convicted of drug crimes; is not an alcoholic or drug addict; and has not exhibited a propensity for violence or instability that may render the applicant's possession of a handgun dangerous.

15. Additionally, the Superintendent must determine that the applicant "has good and substantial reason to wear, carry, or transport a handgun, such as a finding that the permit is necessary as a reasonable precaution against apprehended danger." Md. Public Safety Code § 5-306(a)(5)(ii).

16. Plaintiff Raymond Woollard, an honorably-discharged Navy veteran, resides on a farm in a remote part of Baltimore County.

17. On Christmas Eve, 2002, Woollard was at his home with his wife, son, daughter, and the daughter's children, when an intruder broke into the home by shattering a window. Woollard trained his shotgun on the intruder, but the latter wrested the shotgun away, and a fight broke out between the two. The fight ended when Woollard's son retrieved another gun and restored order pending the police's arrival.

18. Woollard's wife called the police, but it took the police approximately 2.5 hours to arrive, owing to some confusion on their part as to the county in which Woollard's house was located. The intruder was convicted of first degree burglary, receiving a sentence of three years probation. The probation was violated with an assault on a police officer and another burglary at a different residence, which finally landed him in prison.

19. Woollard was issued a permit to carry a handgun, which was renewed in 2005 shortly after the intruder was released from prison. The intruder lives approximately three miles from Woollard.

20. Woollard applied to renew his handgun carry permit a second time, but on February 2, 2009, was advised that his application was incomplete: “Evidence is needed to support apprehended fear (i.e. - copies of police reports for assaults, threats, harassments, stalking).”

21. On April 1, 2009, Defendant Sheridan denied Plaintiff Woollard’s handgun carry permit renewal application.

22. Plaintiff Woollard requested an informal review of his permit renewal application denial. The informal review resulted in a second denial on July 28, 2009.

23. Plaintiff Woollard administratively appealed to the Handgun Permit Review Board.

24. In a November 12, 2009 decision by Defendants Gallagher, Goldstein, and Thomas, the Board affirmed the denial of Woollard’s application, finding that Woollard “has not submitted any documentation to verify threats occurring beyond his residence, where he can already legally carry a handgun.” Accordingly, the Board found Plaintiff Woollard “has not demonstrated a good and substantial reason to wear, carry or transport a handgun as a reasonable precaution against apprehended danger in the State of Maryland.”

25. In addition to and quite apart from any threat posed by the man who invaded Woollard’s home, Plaintiff Woollard would carry a functional handgun in public for self-defense, but refrains from doing so because he fears arrest, prosecution, fine, and imprisonment as he does not possess a license to carry a handgun.

COUNT I
U.S. CONST., AMEND. II, 42 U.S.C. § 1983

26. Paragraphs 1 through 25 are incorporated as though fully stated herein.

27. Individuals cannot be required to prove their “good and substantial reason” for the exercise of fundamental constitutional rights, including the right to keep and bear arms.

28. Individuals cannot be required to demonstrate that carrying a handgun is “necessary as a reasonable precaution against apprehended danger,” or that they face a greater than average level of danger, as a prerequisite for exercising their Second Amendment rights.

29. Maryland Public Safety Code § 5-306(a)(5)(ii)’s requirement that handgun carry permit applicants demonstrate “good and substantial reason to wear, carry, or transport a handgun, such . . . that the permit is necessary as a reasonable precaution against apprehended danger,” violates the Second Amendment to the United States Constitution, damaging Plaintiffs in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Plaintiffs are therefore entitled to permanent injunctive relief against the enforcement of this provision.

30. Defendants’ application of Maryland Public Safety Code § 5-306(a)(5)(ii)’s requirement that handgun carry permit applicants demonstrate “good and substantial reason to wear, carry, or transport a handgun, such . . . that the permit is necessary as a reasonable precaution against apprehended danger,” violates the Second Amendment to the United States Constitution, damaging Plaintiffs in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Plaintiffs are therefore entitled to permanent injunctive relief against the enforcement of this provision.

COUNT II
U.S. CONST., AMEND. XIV, EQUAL PROTECTION, 42 U.S.C. § 1983

31. Paragraphs 1 through 30 are incorporated as though fully stated herein.

32. Maryland Public Safety Code § 5-306(a)(5)(ii)'s requirement that handgun carry permit applicants demonstrate cause for the issuance of a permit violates Plaintiffs' Fourteenth Amendment right to equal protection of the law, damaging them in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Plaintiffs are therefore entitled to permanent injunctive relief against the enforcement of this provision.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs request that judgment be entered in their favor and against Defendants as follows:

4. Costs of suit, including attorney fees and costs pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1988;
